

THANK YOU!

Young Audiences Arts for Learning

Thanks to YOU, Young Audiences/Arts for Learning (YA) had a tremendous impact on the lives and education of Maryland youth during the 2013-2014 school year. These are just some of the ways your support made a difference.

WE ARE REACHING MORE STUDENTS THAN EVER BEFORE AND PROVIDING MORE IN-DEPTH PROGRAMMING

- 169,439 students, Pre-K to grade 12, experienced a YA program ranging from interactive live performances to long-term classroom-based residencies
- YA provided 231,164 total learning hours, an increase of 8% over last year
- YA raised $396,417 to subsidize programs, including urban and rural initiatives, serving 76,333 students

WE ARE IMPACTING EDUCATION IN PROFOUND WAYS

- 500 Maryland educators benefited from 8,314 hours of YA arts integration training
- More than 100 middle school students attended YA's first-ever arts-integrated Baltimore City Summer Learning site that combated summer learning loss of STEM subjects
- As the Maryland Wolf Trap affiliate, YA reached 1,156 Baltimore City students, aged 3 to 5, with literacy programs and provided embedded training for teachers to make classrooms dynamic and engaging

WE ARE BUILDING A DIVERSE COMMUNITY OF TALENTED PROFESSIONAL TEACHING ARTISTS

- 7 professional Maryland artists joined our roster
- YA provided $1,062,175 worth of employment opportunities to artists
- 22 artists were trained through the Teaching Artist Institute, a partnership between YA, Arts Education in Maryland Schools Alliance, and the Maryland State Arts Council

YA IS A SOUND FINANCIAL INVESTMENT

YA served as many students as possible with our $2.3 million budget while keeping expenses as low as possible.

2014 INCOME SOURCES

2014 EXPENSES BREAKDOWN

For a complete list of all 2013-2014 school and community partners and donors, and to meet some of our supporters, visit yamd.org.

Thank you for supporting our work!